CONGRESSIONAL.

XXVII CONGRESS—FIRST SESSION.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The Senate met at 12 o'clock. The Journal of yesterday was read when the Vice President presided and a communication signed by the Cabinet, that in view of the recent affliction of the President, the illumination be omitted.

Mr. Hale offered a resolution expressing the sympathy of the President and requesting the commissioner on the Public Buildings to omit the illumination.

Mr. Wilson, from the Military Committee, reported back the bill for the better organization of the medical staff; also, the bill relating to certain railroads in Missouri.

The Senate then took a recess of half an hour, after which the Senate was again called to order, when a message was received from the House, that they were ready to receive the Senate. When, upon motion, the Senate proceeded in a body, to the House.

After the proceedings in the House, the Senate adjourned till Monday.

House.—Mr. Campbell, presuming that his previous remarks had been misunderstood, proceeded to explain them.

Mr. Lovejoy caused to be read a law of 1814 and 1815, to the effect that the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy be directed to cause to be collected and transmitted to them all flags, banners, and colors which may have been taken from the enemy, and then together with those in possession of these Departments, be delivered to the President, for the purpose of being displayed in such public places as he may deem proper.

HERALD'S DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Thaddeus, the youngest son of the President, is dangerously ill, and it is feared the disease will assume the type so fatal to his brother.

Secretary Stanton had another attack of vertigo, on Thursday night, and is unable to receive visitors on business, to-day.

Mrs. Fremont is seriously ill, and it is feared her disease will prove fatal.

HERALD'S DISPATCH.

Gen. C. F. Smith is to be made a Major General for gallant conduct at Fort Donel-son.

New York, Feb. 22.—The steamer Atlantic, from Port Royal on the 19th inst., arrived here, this morning.

She brings two hundred bales of cotton.

All was quiet at Port Royal. There was no farther intelligence respecting the expedition against Savannah.

The Atlantic reports passing the Harriet

Lane, bound South, off Hatteras.

The steamer Nellie, from Charleston, had arrived at Nassau, and left for Hatteras.

The steamer Kate had arrived, having landed her cargo at Fernandina.

The schooner Courier from Charleston had also arrived at Nassau.

FORTRESS MONROE, Feb. 21.—Three flags of truce were sent to-day.

It is believed in Norfolk that Savannah has been occupied by our forces. This information is thought to be reliable, though no particulars are ascertained.

Notwithstanding the admission that the Merrimac is a failure, the latest information received is, that the treaty of peace is at work on, and considerable quantities of shot and shell are going on board of her.

The intention of making an attempt to run the blockade has been abandoned, and it is come his disagreeable duty to have them cleared.

Mr. Crittenden said that the joint resolution relative to the celebration did not contemplate the presentation of a flag. He therefore moved that this be omitted as a part of the ceremonies.

Mr. Lovejoy opposed, from the general idea of Mr. Crittenden's remarks, that he would not oppose what the military desired, and this flag presentation was arranged, by the Secretary of War.

Mr. Dawes inquired how the flag could be presented when Congress will not take them.

He did not propose to magnify the rebel flags in this way, and hoped that they would respectfully decline to receive them.

Mr. Campbell said they
